ADOPTIONS TOGETHER

www.adoptionsTogether.org
Welcome to Adoptions Together! Building your family through adoption is a beautiful way to realize the dream of parenthood. As an organization who believes that children grow best in stable, loving well supported and prepared families, we seek mature adults who have the capacity to meet the physical and emotional needs of a child. Founded in 1990, Adoptions Together is licensed in Maryland, Washington, D.C. and Virginia. We welcome every child in need of a family regardless of race, health or special need, and are honored to have helped more than 7,000 children join loving adoptive families.

EVERY CHILD:
Domestic Infant Adoption: Adoptions Together welcomes all children in need of an adoptive family and serves expectant parents in our region seeking adoption services. Many of our adoptions are open and provide the opportunity for birth and adoptive families to stay in touch. We facilitate the complete adoption process and afterward our families receive support through our comprehensive post placement services.
Foster Care Adoption: Across the United States more than 110,000 children wait in State foster care to be adopted. We work with prospective parents interested in learning about the needs of these children and help you assess if this type of adoption is right for your family. These children and sibling groups are primarily over the age of eight and all have experienced some degree of trauma in their precious young lives. We facilitate the complete adoption process and afterward our families receive support through our comprehensive post placement services.
International Adoption: We provide extensive support services for families seeking to adopt children from overseas, including consultation to determine which country is the best choice for individual circumstances; a home study specific to the country; training, guidance in considering a child referred for adoption; and post placement services.

EVERY FAMILY:
Home Study and Post Placement: Our team of compassionate and experienced social workers provides a complete range of home study and post placement services for families adopting through our agency’s placement programs, as well as for families adopting through other agencies and through independent adoptions.

EVERY STEP OF THE WAY:
Lifelong Family Support: Our mission of bringing children and families together is equaled only by our commitment to supporting families lifelong. We offer attachment-focused, adoption competent counseling, support groups, community and professional education, parenting seminars, webinars and summer programs. We also have fun recreational activities. We are your partner in whatever capacity you want as your child matures.

If you would like to expand your family through adoption with an organization that takes a holistic approach to building and support, we urge you to consider Adoptions Together. Please feel free to call with any questions. Thank you!

The Adoption Home Study

We believe that each family who adopts deserves professional, ethical and sensitive treatment during the home study experience. We also believe that each child who is adopted needs a permanent family that will provide the best possible parenting, no matter their challenges.

Home Study 101

Home studies help prepare prospective adoptive parents for the tasks of raising a child who was not born into their family. They also provide assurance to individuals who are responsible for placing a child for adoption that the family is properly equipped to take care of a child. A home study consists of a series of interviews with a social worker, the collection of documents about the family, and a written narrative report.

Home studies are required in most states and, if you are adopting internationally, by the United States Citizen Immigration Service (USCIS) and the country where the child resides.

Eligibility

- Married or a committed couples must be married or partnered for a minimum of one year, and living together for a minimum of three years by the time you apply for a home study. Exceptions may be made on a case by case basis.
- Adoption Together requires that a single parent must be 50 years or younger at the time of application for the adoption of an infant. If part of a couple, the couple’s combined age should not exceed 100. Ages may be older if you are adopting from foster care. We can consider exceptions on a case by case basis given when a family has identified a placement resource willing to work with them and within a reasonable time frame.
- The prospective parent should be in sufficient health to be expected to raise a child to adulthood.
- Sufficient financial resources are required to afford adoption expenses and to provide adequate care for the adopted child. All family members need to be covered by medical insurance. The primary earner should have life insurance to cover one year of his/her salary. The reason for these financial guidelines is to protect both the adopted child and your family from serious financial distress.

 Please note that particular countries and other placement services may have additional eligibility guidelines.

Typical Virginia Parental Placement Procedures

Adoptions Together is licensed to provide services for Virginia Parental Placement Adoptions. The information below was adapted with permission from Coordinators 2, Inc. For more information about Virginia Parental Placement Adoptions, please make an account in MyAdoptionPortal.

In a parental placement, a licensed child-placing agency, completes a home study report, conducts the Simultaneous Meeting (no longer required by law, but is highly recommended) between birth and adoptive parents, and provides a Report to Court.

The Report includes home study information, background information on the birth parents and birth of the child and certifies to the Court that all identifying information has been exchanged, all parties are making an informed and uncoerced decision and recommends that this placement appears to be in the best interest of the child. The adoptive parents' attorney files a petition in the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court for execution of the birth parents consent and awarding of custody of the child to the prospective adoptive parents.

The Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court reviews the Report to Court to determine whether the requirements of law have been met, accepts parental consent, and transfers custody to the adoptive parents. An Adoption Petition may then be filed in Circuit Court. Please note that this type of adoption frequently has the physical placement of the child into the adoptive family occur prior to court consent, usually from the hospital. This means that the adoptive family accepts placement of the child under "legal risk" as the placing parents still have time to change their mind about adoption.

Financing Your Adoption

Military Benefit Programs

The military will reimburse active-duty personnel for most one-time adoption costs up to $2,000 per child, whether adopting a Domestic healthy infant or older child, or a child from abroad (Travel costs, foreign or domestic, are not covered). There is a maximum reimbursement of $5,000 in a given year, even if both parents are in the military. Reimbursement is made only after the adoption is finalized and only if the adoption was provided through a state adoption agency or a not-for-profit private agency. Adoption and placement fees that may be reimbursed include:

- Fees for birth parent counseling
- Legal fees and court costs
- Medical expenses - hospital expenses of the biological mother and newborn infant.

The military's Exceptional Family Member Program is designed to ensure that the adoptive families of children with special needs are assigned to duty stations where the child's needs may be met. In some instances, a military family caring for an adopted disabled child may receive monthly assistance up to $1000 under the military's Program for Persons with Disabilities.

While the military has long provided health care for adopted children, as part of the health benefits provided by the Federal government to military personnel and their dependents, it is now available for adopted children as soon as they are placed in your home, rather than having to wait until the adoption is finalized. Moreover, military health care does not require a waiting period for pre-existing conditions. Military personnel may make use of leave programs similar to those offered by civilian employers. Reimbursements and benefits apply whether the adopting parent is single or married and whether the adoption is completed in the US or overseas.

NOTE: Independent adoptions, or adoptions provided through a for-profit adoption agency, do not qualify for military reimbursements.

For more information about adoption for military families, visit the web at www.nmfa.org.
Financing Your Adoption

Credit Cards and Frequent Flyer Miles

Families adopting through the International Adoption Program typically travel overseas to complete their adoptions. You can use frequent flyer miles to reduce the cost of airfare significantly. Many credit card companies offer frequent flyer miles as incentives. Check with your individual credit card issuers to see if this benefit is available to you.

Adoption Loan Information

Please contact the National Adoption Foundation to explore grants and loans specifically for adoption www.nafadopt.org. Please note that loan approval is required for home study approval.
Adoption Subsidy Program

Families who adopt children with special medical, emotional, and/or developmental needs; older children from foster care; or members of a sibling group may be eligible for an adoption subsidy from federal and state governments. This financial assistance is available to ensure that families who adopt these children have the necessary services and financial resources to meet their children's ongoing needs. Subsidies fall into three categories:

Monthly Financial Assistance. This type of subsidy is designed to remove financial barriers for families who adopt children with special needs. Nearly all children in public foster care who are waiting to be adopted are eligible for this type of assistance. Subsidies are awarded on a case-by-case basis and vary depending on the needs of the child. Annual reviews of subsidies are conducted to ensure that the child still qualifies for assistance. Eligibility for the subsidy is based solely on the needs of the child; the adoptive parents' financial resources do not determine whether a child is eligible for a subsidy.

Medical Assistance. Children in subsidized adoptions are also eligible for a medical subsidy through a new Medicaid-managed care program.

One-Time Subsidy. This nonrecurring payment, which may be offered in addition to the monthly financial subsidy, is designed to cover specific expenses or special services related to the adoption of a particular child or children. Reimbursable expenses may include adoption placement fees, court costs, attorney's fees, required health and psychological examinations, transportation, and reasonable costs of lodging and food for the child and/or the adoptive parents when necessary to complete the placement or adoption process.

To be eligible for any subsidy, a child must first meet both of the following two requirements:

- A local department of social services or a private agency in Maryland must hold guardianship of the child. The child could not be placed for adoption without a subsidy.

To be eligible for any subsidy, a child must also meet one of the following requirements:

- The child must be six or older, but has not reached the age of 18 years
- The child must be a member of a minority group
- The child must have a physical or mental handicap and/or be emotionally disturbed The child must be a member of a sibling group which is to be placed together

If you are interested in adopting a child who may be eligible for an adoption subsidy, we will assist you in applying for a subsidy for your child.
